

NATIONAL DAY ON WRITING®

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 20

Now in its 9th year, this annual event celebrates the importance of writing in our daily lives.

Across the country in schools, libraries, homes, businesses, and even on sidewalks, folks will be finding creative ways to tell the world why they write. All of this gets shared out using the #WhyIWrite hashtag.

HERE ARE 3 SIMPLE WAYS TO PARTICIPATE:

1. WRITE! Tell the world why you write in 140 characters, or in a picture, video, or blog, and share using #WhyIWrite.

2. SPREAD THE WORD

A lot of people still don't know about this special opportunity to give writing its day in the spotlight. Tell folks about #WhyIWrite and encourage them to participate.

3. HOST OR ATTEND AN EVENT

Schools have created celebrations involving letter writing, public art, guest writers, and more. Writing centers on college campuses have hosted write-ins. From twitter chats to 24-hour write-a-thons, the possibilities are limitless! Be sure to share pictures to #WhyIWrite!

LEARN MORE AND SUBMIT YOUR EVENTS AT WWW.WHYIWRITE.US